Special Assistant Political Affairs

Dear Secretary-General, Mr. António Guterres,

It is my true honor to write again to you. I admire and respect the United Nations to the highest point, and would like to join your team as your Special Assistant. I share your values about truth, enthusiasm, loyalty, and promise to meet all required criteria: professionalism, meticulous organization, ability to envision an extensive spectrum of perspectives. I am your ally, support and representative in every circumstance.

Applying to different roles at the United Nations and explaining the Sustainable Development Goals to my students, I became very knowledgeable of your events and missions. I collected an incredible amount of data to create an Encyclopedia about Arts, Business, Science, Education and Politics. This Masterpiece is now available to YOU, for schools, libraries or professional development trainings:

To solve anthropological and environmental challenges, facilitate the global transition to renewable energy, and provide legit tools and strategies, we must be backed by Science. Nassim Haramein just declared that his equation will revolutionize our energy utilization, and I already redacted a plan of action to implement the peacekeeping resolutions of the UN Security Council. Negotiations on gun laws and nuclear weapons removal remain a priority.

Social media has given superpowers to civil society. We are able to reach activists all around the world! Understanding a call for help in Bulgaria. Sending support across the ocean. Motivate. Inspire. Stand for Jill, Joe and Lady Justice. Quality education and gender equality. We've got to save the world, give everyone the key to survive and, even better, to thrive! Our children will be proud!

Thank you so much for your consideration. Please consult this video series of my recruiting journey with the UN (the last one is about this specific mission):

MY WISH TODAY is to work together in NYC!!

Sincerely,
