In a world at war and led by men, Arts, Spaceships and Beauty are all we have left to inspire the world. Communication is a bridge to the most beautiful masterpieces, but the Halls of Horrors is also very real. A few years ago, started the worst time of my life. Imagine to feel grateful each day for being so blessed, you wonder what you are capable of, if you can transcend the realm of normalcy to become extraordinary. And all of a sudden, everything falls apart. You don't have family nearby to support you or help you with your kids, no money or job to be independent and provide, but you still have big dreams, several mentors and a lot of adrenaline. In these times, I wanted a new step towards happiness to escape the tensions, the disputes, there were MANY, MANY women experiencing the same tragedy. We because some have it way worse than us, so we were tested, over and slowly, yet, exponentially inspired by ultra successful personalities who careers, brilliance and ideas. This article is dedicated to them. To ambitious women who decided to represent their people in a ravaged and angry world. Weapons, censorship, abortion bans, playing with our hearts... who do they think they are??

Today I am talking about 5 incredible women, symbols of beauty, leadership and creativity. Them boys want to fight, but they don't know that when we fight, WE WIN!! Jlo, we want you back! Thanks for choreographing Trump's rally, the FBI is always so creative. Here is what The Golden Team has to say to you!!

You can treat people like escalators, step on them to get up there, or you can treat them like family and rise altogether. No matter if they are perfect or not, if we made mistakes, if we think the same. We take the best of each to build the perfect recipe. If we want peace, the only way is to overcome our differences and... make peace. Right now, the BRICS and NATO are filling their pockets with weapon trafficking while single mums are struggling to keep their family healthy.

- If I was a millionaire, I would happily be taxed HEAVILY to contribute to society.
- We need to BAN the oil industry and make it impossible, so there is no other option than the energy transition. This must also apply to the space engineering industry. Get me the JOB at Space X so my teams and I at 4 Bidden Knowledge, White House and International Space Federation can start working on it and let the laws follows. "We will be leaders, not followers".
- We need to revoke the Second Amendment and remove guns from our streets in two generations. It may not be easy to build a safe world, but we have to start somewhere.
- We need to help our refugees and keep contributing to charities. We schools will educate those kiddos. The UN said there are hundreds of thousands of refugees, we have space, we're bringing them in. Period.
- Stop putting so much pressure on the middle classes and hand them some cash!! America needs a Universal Income.
- Stop blocking the way to progress, communication and technological evolution.
- We are tired of having to shut up because others have it worse than us. Raising kids and cleaning houses if fucking hard. If you want a dynamic and proactive America, you need to give us opportunities to deploy our energy and be rewarded, not just throwing balls at an empty stadium. Do you know how many military women who are far from their family are in depression? How many kids are being beat up by their parents? How many people lost everything and crossed the world with their babies to be refugees in the land of Dreams, ending up homeless and called criminals? YOU DICKS WILL NOT WIN THIS ONE.
- We are ready for the first WOMAN PRESIDENT IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

What do you think of my before and after? Once again I want to congratulate Jennifer Lopez for her super beautiful movie "This is me now", myself for the incredible "Yo Soy 2022, The Movie", Kim Kardashian for becoming a women Ambassador and movie producer, and of course, the BRICS and NATO for this special production aimed at destroying our planet with MORE WEAPONS and MORE MEN!

We are tired of the Middle East not being able to educate and control their people! We have seen wars there since we were born. Stop sending weapons to those barbarians. Do you think, maybe, just maybe, your religions and royal families are not exactly on point? As far as Russia, only on team will save this nonsense. My Space X CREW and our next Spaceship and free energy technology that will solve pollution and poverty!!

First, the state of our world is unsustainable.

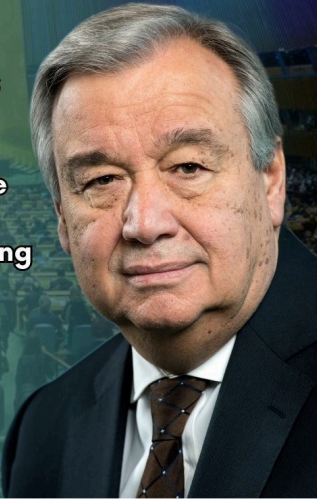

We can't go on like this.

And second, the challenges we face are solvable.

But that requires us to make sure the mechanisms of international problem-solving actually solve problems.

Now can I make a special for my very own special and incredible KK's? Women empowering women is the most beautiful gift we can make to each other. I love those ladies because they are smart, famous, beautiful, but most importantly, they are KIND and they don't need to crush others to rise. As Kim said, "some people will never support you because it's you, others will always support you, because it's you. Choose your people well". You know, making my family and loved ones proud, helping them, creating jobs, art galleries and spaces for them was one of the reasons for my dreams to become successful, but another one was my haters. I just can't wait for the day I'm on the other side with my tribe and they just wish they had that. We worked on our crafts every single day, trying to touch each other's hearts, til it became a very demure and very mindful movement!! I loved Jlo's movie because the stagings and choreographies were just incredible. Who doesn't want a full movie of our Jenny from the block? And Kim and Khloe, girls, I want your life. Queens of Wonderland. Thank you for... PERFECTION!!

"When our human life was created on this planet it was decided to give this beautiful place a creature with intelligence and free will. To see what he would do with it. There are very few planets in the universe that were allowed free will.

I have explored some of these in my other books. But another rule was the prime directive of non-interference. This is often spoken of in the "Star Trek" series, but it is not fiction. It is very real and is carefully followed by all the space people. This means they are not allowed to interfere with the development of a civilization.

They have said that there was only one exception to this rule, and that was if the civilization were to get to the point that it could destroy this planet. Then they were allowed to step in and stop it because if we were to do something like that it could have reverberations throughout the galaxy. Who would think that such a small planet as Earth would impact the galaxy. Who would think that such a small planet as Earth would have that type of influence?

We are a small planet, and we are deliberately isolated and quarantined herein our little corner of the solar system. They are afraid of us, afraid of what we could do with our violence. This is the main reason they have been watching us for so many eons. The reverberations could spread throughout the solar system, the galaxy and even into other dimensions where we would be interfering and destroying other civilizations unknown to us. The consequences would be horrifying.

We now know this was the reason for sending pure souls as volunteers to help Earth at this time, to keep this from happening. I now know through my work that many civilizations down through time have been destroyed. "They" have told me that each time they had reached the peak of intellectual knowledge and had perfected their minds to the point that they could do marvelous things. But in each circumstance (including Atlantis) the people had abused their powers and began to do things that were for greed and power rather than the betterment of the people."

Did you know?

Art is what helped me stay creative and feel accomplished during my first years of motherhood, developing a new way to communicate this is inspiring and profound, while being calm and protected in my silent bubble. I created several online art classes that are available and completely free, on my website. "Journey to Love", "Metatron's Vibes", "The Angel Pack", "The United Series", and, finally, "Fly me to the Moon", a special inspired by our future husband Elon Musk. You can learn about the meditative technique of dotillism and how to master the language of symbols. Congratulations, Khloe, for your new brand!! You are radiant!!

Let's meet up my loves! You know when and where!!

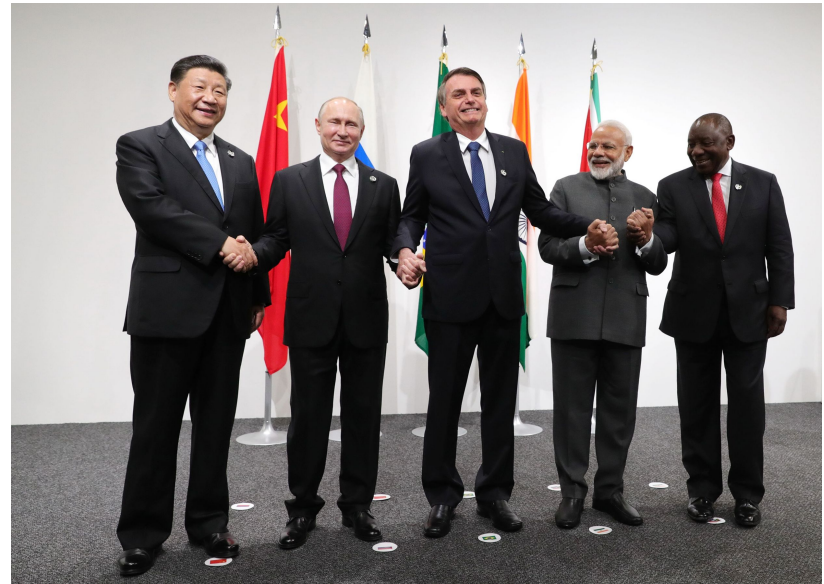

And for the people telling me I lack professionalism, let me ask you something. Would you rather see a genius like Elon Musk single and surrounded by MAGA immigrants still living in the XVIII century all his life, or seeing him upgrade for the ultimate beauty and integrity, see all the doors open once renewable energy has made its way to free humanity, making consciousness and technology align and fulfill the prophecy of Pachacuti? Hmm, that's what I thought. What is the only thing that is so hard to find and yet exponentially multiplies? Love. It's always love. I promise you'll get over Donald Trump. Kim, this painting is for YOU. You are my muse, perfection, a business woman, model, actress (guys I just want to make it in life so I can subscribe to HBO!!), leader, lawyer, a true Angels. Let's stick around together!

Now, let's be real. A part of me says to Tony Robbins: "Ahah, now you know how it feels, Karma's a woman". Another part says: "Woman, what a loss in your journey. What a loss for American to have an incredible, complementary duo such as Tony Robbins and Kamala Harris as leaders to get them out of the dark and do everything in our power to bring people together to find solutions to the most burning questions. Some names are meant to make history, and Tony Robbins is one of them. I'm not just cheering for him, I just know that he can GUARANTY you to win and built an incredible career together. I don't think Putin is scared of Tim, to be honest. The BRICS is getting stronger by the day, Trump's alliances as well, and we've got the good old Democrats. We need innovation, marketing, mass education and communication to meet the needs of immigration and help the Middle East without being fooled and dragged by terrorists. Trust me, I know just a little bit about psychopaths, criminals and narcissists. We need to shame them, find them, and destroy them. We need strong people who know the life of small people and the journey to become, BIG people. Look at all those dicks messing around with our planet, our technology and our children.

WHAT. THE FUCK. ARE WE. DOING?? Let me put some in jail!!! Thanks, Kim, for freeing some space.
