The Prophecy of Pachacuti

A legend says that "when the Eagle and the Condor will fly together in the sky, the world will know Peace".

Prophecies transport us to a world of magic and legends, often far from where we are. But they can only be fulfilled if humans make it happen. Planting seeds in the heart of people, Grandmother María Apaza, from her 99 years of wisdom, is a long-living legend!! Let's make history!!

PLANT MEDICINES

Even though most medicines come from the Amazon rainforest!

Cuzco is a Quechua name and capital of the Inca Empire (Tahuantinsuyo) that means "Center of the World", the central circle of the Inca cross: Chakana

Struck 3 times by lightning, she was chosen to become the Incas' XXIst century legacy.

"Muqllu"

"When enough seeds (muqllu) are awakened and free, they will be able to sprout within humanity and form the unity of the whole".

Overview of their Activity

Pachahunai was born in England, Birmingham in June 2020 and was created by the Peruvian women, Pamecora, Aqorisomn and Maragarita, medicine women. Pamecora and Aqorizomn were initiated by the Q'ero tradition (last Inca descendants), being the first non-Q'ero women, initiated at a high level of consciousness - Altomisayoq.

Their mission is the healing and awakening of the consciousness of humanity, nature and the universe through radical consciousness.

Pachahunai, is a community for all those who want to experience the ancient wisdom, healing powers of the Incas and other cultures, from their worldview. In addition, it allows one to have a greater connection with the medicine of nature, art, and technology, generating the awakening of consciousness, wisdom, magic and creativity of the being to live in harmony and connection with the Pachamama (everything absolute).

1. "PACHA" of Pachamama (everything absolute)

2. "CHA", from Chakana, which contains a complete interpretation of existence.

3. "H" for humanity

4. "U" for universe

5. "N" for nature

6. "A" from Apus, the sacred mountains - spirit guides

7. "I" of Inti that represents the highest level of consciousness.

THE SACRED CYCLES

Pachahunai was created in 13 days, with 13 extraordinary ceremonies, and during this time Pachahunai was guided by 13 sacred spirits that are part of the Pachahunai Oracle. Number 13 has been considered sacred in many cultures, from the 13 yearly cycles of the Moon, to its divine symbolism: 12 apostles + the Prophet, or the 13 crystal skulls! Adding up to 4, it is foundational number!!

1. Ayahuasca

2. Mama Simona

3. Mama Coca

4. Apu Qoilluriti

5. Apu Ausangate

6. Time

7. Pensildra

Story and innovation

How is this organization different from usual practices?

The Q'eros are sustainable communities who are farmers by birth. They produce their own food in harmony with the land. Letting the Earth rest for a year between crops, for example, is a way to ensure a better health and productivity for our planet, which then benefits humans. They also raise their own animals and use the wool to make clothing. They have very beautiful and artistic weaving techniques, featuring the chakana or other elements, as well as jewelry. Peruvian silver is of great quality, and the white stone of Machu Picchu, for example, is simply magical! When you look at the patterns they use, they will explain to you that each one of them carries symbolism.

This tribe also operates for the healing of the planet and humanity on the spiritual level. A Shaman is a bridge between worlds, healing the spirit and body using the elements and the plants. Once we realize, and truly recognize, what Nature can do for us, we will start respecting it, and honoring it. The elements and clean air will be our most sacred resources. We will stop cutting forests or mining illegally. The seeds of wisdom must be planted within us, through communion with each other, through events and reunions.

The Q'eros communicate with the Apus, Gods of the Mountains, or Medicine, Elements or Planets, and help our souls connect to the cosmos to realize that everything is alive. Their 99 years old leader, María Apaza, is a High Priestess among the last descendants of the Q'ero Nation (Incas). She was struck by lightning three times, and chosen to carry their legacy and fulfill the prophecy of the Eagle and Condor, also known as Pachacuti. They say that, when enough seeds will be planted, harmony will be established. The Eagle symbolizes the power and technology (North America), and the Condor is the Wisdom of holistic medicine and shamanism. What makes them special is that they travel all around the world to teach and connect people. Education and exposure to culture is key to balance the new generations of robotics and our ancestral magic.

Governance and partnerships

Please describe how the organization is governed, especially how it is owned and driven by the community. Please list a few key partnerships that have contributed to the initiative's success.

Pachahunai is led by 6 persons initiated by the Q'ero traditions:

Maria Apaza, Manuel Jerillo, Pamakayana, Aqorisomn, Anya, Salka

They work closely and offer services with Plant Masters from their regions in the Andes, online, or traveling around the world.

They collaborated with Matías de Stefano and the Arsayian Fundación, in 2022, when invited to the Yo Soy 2022 event in Egypt. A week of enlightening conferences, concerts, team-building activities, communion and blessings. It was incredible to create a Peruvian bridge with Egypt! A massive success uniting 2000 people, where María Apaza made everyone sing and gave her blessings in front of the Giza Pyramid. Would you like to be a part of it? You can because... We made a movie!!

Link to Yo Soy 2022, the Movie:

www.PachaMamArt.org/Key-of-Hearts

Then, Pachahunai organized their own event in Egypt and invited Matías. The circle of life!! At this very moment, they are in India for the Maha Kumbh Festival, the greatest prayer gathering on Earth welcoming 400million people every 144 years.

I personally met these incredible people in a Nile Cruise by chance, and we gathered around the Temple of Isis as family. Such a blessing. Let's help them keep going so the INCAS, the GREATEST and most PRECIOUS culture ever known on Earth, can live on! Pompoyo Pompoyo!!

Environmental impacts

Please describe the environmental impact that the initiative has had as a result of ecosystem protection, restoration, and/or sustainable management. Where possible, elaborate on positive impacts on biodiversity and climate change.

Pachahunai's team connected with several impactful groups over the years:

"We met with Project Nuba Dessa in Egypt and the Blue Lotus Ecolodge, which serves as guardians of the sacred Blue Lotus. This Blue Lotus, which was blessed by all Indigenous representatives at COP28-29, carries profound significance as a symbol of unity and ancestral wisdom.

We also held a ceremony with the Supreme Indigenous Leader of Mexico in Chichén Itzá, with full government authorization to preserve ancestral practices. In addition, we worked with Grandfather Antonio in Chichén Itzá, who is involved in the Maya Bioregion Project, dedicated to the protection and regeneration of sacred lands. For example, letting the Earth rest for a year between crops is a way to ensure better health and productivity for our planet, which then benefits humans.

In Egypt, we collaborated with Generación Enraizada, a collective working towards environmental protection and regeneration. They work with the Koguis, standing alongside them in defense of their territories and the sacred balance of nature.

And now, we will be gathering in Guatemala with Kako Earth, a project focused on ecosystem restoration and conservation.

Each of these connections has deepened our shared mission of protecting sacred lands, restoring ecosystems, and preserving ancestral wisdom for future generations. It also represents the profound global impact of our work".

Sustainable development impacts

Please describe the impacts for each of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) identified in the previous section.

Even though the SDGs are all interconnected, Pachahunai's holistic approach of education has direct impacts on the Life on Land and Communities. Partnerships have expanded the sacred teachings of the Incas and connected them to other indigenous groups descendants of the Mayas or Egyptians, which is a key factor for Peace. In a world where wars and political divisions are our biggest challenges, cultural awareness and unity are our only hopes for survival. In our conversation, Aqorisomn also insisted on the importance of Coca leaves in their culture, which stimulates the energy and immune system, as well as our connection to the spirit realm. Knowing the benefits of plant medicine, which is ABUNDANT in Peru, helps us consume responsibly and reduce anti-microbial resistance. The Amazonian Rainforest is home to 25,000 useful plants! Did you know that 25% of Western medicines are derived from the Amazon and 70% of anti-cancer plants exist only in the Amazon?

Replicability

Describe how the initiative's actions have been replicated or could be replicated in other parts of the country, or in other countries.

As previously mentioned, the first step is to become aware that EVERYTHING around us is alive and has a spirit, a memory and a heart. We are all a part of the cycle of life so, when we cultivate consciously, Spirit conspires to push us in certain directions that benefits ALL. By organizing hundreds of gatherings, “planting seeds” and collaborating with other collectives, we become the branches of one tree that can then replicate the successful, like it happened with “Generation Enraizada”, which itself transferred the practice to the “Koguis”, and so on.

Scalability

Describe how the initiative's actions have been scaled up nationally, or how they could be scaled up at a national level.

This organization is supported by governments, and their sacred sites protected by UNESCO. Now, in America, the task to establish consciousness is difficult because the only word that leaders know is “productivity”. Taking the time to live is considered laziness, and mothers and teachers are the least gratified on the human scale. The only way for Americans to understand and to stop believing they are the best thing out there is to TRAVEL to see the world. Lower airfares and improve International partnerships between universities so new generations can ally technology and traditions.

Resilience and adaptability

How has the initiative responded and adapted to environmental, social and economic challenges or change? How has it shown resilience in the face of external pressures?

We are talking about a 100 years woman who has seen so many changes in the world and her society. A century ago and up until the 1990's, Peru faced one of the most dramatic and unknown genocides of indigenous people and humanity. Former President Fujimori (now in jail), upon guidance from the IMF who commanded to eradicate poverty, had the idea of simply eradicating... the poor. Under the pretext of a free vaccination campaign, troops were sent in the provinces to forcibly sterilize indigenous women, which had a terrible impact on their legacy. Illegal mining and deforestation, or racism against criollos and serranos were strong, and it took years of positive marketing to understand and retrieve the sacred aspect of Nature's Guardians. For example, the creation of Marca Perú, the return to holistic medicines, the "fashionization" of Ayahuasca ceremonies or global organizations such as the United Nations brought enormous progress to RESPECTING and then PROMOTING their traditions. Medical advancements and discoveries in chemistry also led to almost forgetting the origins of our antidotes. Despite all pains, the COVID pandemic opened cyber windows to the world and made the spiritual and indigenous knowledge more accessible to all and is no longer a hidden treasure, but the door to the existential quest and soul healing that our generation is looking for.
