Dear United Nations Community, Dear Ms. Ménardi and Bukar,

It is with our greatest happiness and honor that we would like to announce today, that two wonderful, courageous, beautiful, inspiring women of high intelligence are appointed to the role of CO-DIRECTORS of the United Nations Alliance of Civilizations, to continue the legacy of Mr. Moratinos who has brought mediation, culture and dialogue among nations during his entire career. For the first time ever, two Directors are appointed to be each other's pillars in sisterhood and as global citizens to represent the world and bring their art, poetry and politics anchored in Justice and the Defense of Human Rights, and particularly women, to the United Nations organization and family in New York City. Both artists at heart, they will represent a wide audience of repressed communities to support and heal, and world leaders and politicians to engage and implement solutions at the highest level. From the microcosm to the macrocosm, from Arts to Science and with the help of our officials and engineers, we will teach the arts, organize events, promote cultural diversity, and redirect the focus from wars to excellence.

Born in France, Ms. Ménardi has been an arts, science and languages teachers worldwide, in France Peru, Bahrain and the United States for two decades, while building the greatest cyber network in the modern world through her mandala art and meaningful symbols, heart-centered politics and vision for truth to restore trust between nations. She has provided a precise Peace and Denuclearization plan that is already being implemented by both BRICS and NATO leaders and that will be led until its full completion. She also has a deep connection and love for Elon Musk and all Space X related projects, projecting on uniting promptly to organize the Space Olympics 2030, using technology as a negotiation currency for the surrendering of all weapons of mass destruction, coordinating with embassies to guaranty the honest implementation of this goal, in respect of the UN Charter's main purpose, which was created after the disasters of WWII. She also is also a promising author, and committed to donating her entire, amazing art collection to UNESCO for colorful exhibitions, trainings and events around the world.

Ms. Maryam Hassan Bukar, a renown Nigerian poet, UN SDG Award Finalist 2024, has made a charismatic entrance at the General Assembly of the United Nations with an empowering spirit of sisterhood and unity to present the mission of the United Nations among global events while exposing the wars and persecutions happening in African communities. In just about a year, she has been a true leader gathering organizations for conferences and sharing documentaries on her social media platform, carrying grace and poetry in every speech. We believe that the audience, by being captivated by her presence, will be remembering her message. We believe that her kindness will give our visitors and partners the confidence to be brave and vulnerable. And we believe that these two women who have been supporting each other without ever meeting before, will represent the world and fulfill the mission of the United Nations Alliance of Civilizations at the finest level.

We hope that you will accept this offer and join us for this shared mission effective January 1st, 2026. With Kindness, Merry Christmas!

Yours truly,

Secretary-General António Guterres
